

hello

I am excited to apply for opportunities in Project Management, creative ideation, AI-driven Digital Transformation, UX/UI Strategy, and Digital Learning Solutions. With 19+ years of experience and Certified Scrum Master (CSM) credentials, I have built my career across animation, eLearning, UX/UI, digital communication, and enterprise project management, delivering innovative and user-focused solutions for global organizations.

My journey began with 2D animation and eLearning projects for Delhi Government educational initiatives, where I created digital learning content, illustrations, and animation-based experiences. Over the years, I expanded into UX/UI design, product prototyping, gamified learning, multimedia communication, and enterprise digital solutions while working with organizations like Accenture, Magic Software, and currently Genpact.

At Genpact, I currently work as a PMO – Senior Project Manager, leading global delivery programs across AI-enabled learning, executive communication, UX/UI projects, microsites, and digital transformation initiatives. I built the GrowthOps iPith team from scratch and successfully delivered international projects with strong client satisfaction. I also drive AI adoption by implementing AI-powered workflows, automation, and intelligent content solutions to improve productivity, collaboration, and delivery efficiency.

My expertise includes Agile project management, stakeholder engagement, SLA governance, resource planning, vendor management, cybersecurity awareness campaigns, gamified learning, SCORM-compliant WBT solutions, SharePoint ecosystems, and multimedia communication strategies. I enjoy working in fast-paced environments focused on innovation, collaboration, and continuous improvement.

What motivates me most is the growing impact of AI in transforming digital experiences and business operations. I strongly believe in combining AI capabilities with creativity, design thinking, and strategic execution to build scalable and future-ready solutions. With my diverse background in creative technology, project leadership, and AI-enabled delivery models, I am confident in contributing effectively to your organization's growth and innovation journey.
